Re: Recommendation Letter for Sujeetkumar Ranjeet Kadam

To whom it may concern,

By means of this letter I would like to strongly recommend Sujeetkumar Ranjeet Kadam for the position he is currently applying for. His selection would be that of a dedicated, energetic and committed professional, who aims to contribute from his experience and career.

I met Sujeetkumar in Bogotá-Colombia, in July 2025, when he travelled with a group of University of Melbourne (Unimelb) students that were selected for a research project with the Reach Alliance. For a week, we visited schools from two different suburban districts in Bogotá, where students observed orientation sessions of Semillas de Apego, (Seeds of attachment in English, or SdA), a psychosocial model focused on promoting mental health of primary caregivers of children of ages of birth to five years old. The research process also included interviews, focus groups, and meetings with SdA's, staff and directors. This experience allowed me to get to know Sujeetkumar and some of his traits and capabilities, as I was the person in charge of supporting the research team as part of my work with Kindred, an NGO focused on well-being and community mental health.

Although I met Sujeetkumar for a short period of time, it was enough to perceive his commitment, while facing varied contexts and challenging scenarios. I will refer to three strong areas that I have perceived from Sujeetkumar's work:

- Teamwork and Analytical Skills: Both of these aspects were evident in Sujeetkumar since we started to work online before the research visit to Colombia. Regarding teamwork, he was very keen to take the lead when needed, communicating in the name of this team and sending information as needed. However, he was also very responsive when other members of the team were leading, enhancing collaborative work throughout the process. Also, during the times we had sensemaking sessions with the group to discuss the preliminary findings, Sujeetkumar showed high analytical skills, making connections between what different people had shared during the data collection.
- Cross-cultural communication: During the research experience, Sujeetkumar evidenced his ability to communicate with different stakeholders. This included relating with community members from the schools we visited, staff from SdA, academics from Universidad de los Andes, as well as members from our Kindred staff. Across these interactions, Sujeetkumar demonstrated a fluent and sensitive way of communicating with people from different cultural settings and backgrounds.
- Problem-solving abilities: Throughout the research process, Sujeetkumar also addressed several challenges that emerged. These included managing the questions posed by the Ethics Committee from the University of Melbourne; adapting the content and structure of interviews according to interviewees' responses and available time; as well as following up on the consent forms of those people interviewed online.

After having shared my perceptions and described this with examples, I confirm my strong recommendation on Sujeetkumar as a strong candidate and committed professional.

Sincerely yours,

To whom it may concern,

I am writing to offer a reference for Mr. Sujeetkumar Ranjeet Kadam, a student from the University of Melbourne who is set to graduate in July 2025 with a Master of Management (Marketing) degree.

During Semester 2, 2024, Sujeet was a student in my Marketing Strategy course. His exceptional performance in the course was evident in his outstanding grade of H1 (81%). Notably, he excelled in the class simulation as the Vice President of Brand Management, where he led his team in designing and executing a compelling product launch campaign. His innovative branding strategies secured second place in the class, showcasing his ability to effectively balance creativity with analytical rigour.

Beyond the simulation, Sujeet consistently demonstrated leadership in class discussions, fostering collaboration and elevating group outcomes. His proactive approach to peer mentoring and his ability to synthesise complex marketing theories into actionable insights further highlight his readiness for real-world challenges. These experiences honed his skills in teamwork, decision-making, and persuasive communication—qualities essential for a dynamic marketing professional.

Sujeet's academic achievements, coupled with his strong transferable skills, make him an excellent candidate for a top marketing role. I am confident that he will be a valuable asset to any organisation.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you require any further information.

Yours sincerely,
